OFFICIAL TEXT OF NOTE RECEIVED IN WASHINGTON; SENATE SOUNDS WARNING

Vatican Declines Demand of Austria-Hungary That It Again Intercede for Cessation of Hostilities; Loan Burning; French Cross Suipe and Huns Retire in Disorder.

RHEIMS FREED FROM MENACE OF GERMAN GUNS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—A prompt and decisive reply to Germany's latest peace proposal is indicated by developments in Washington early today.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Discussion of Germany's peace offer began in the Senate soon after today's session convened. Senator Poindexter of Washington, Republican, declared the proposal for an armistice a "most insidious danger."

Senator Poindexter said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee should seek consultation on any negotiation entered into by the government and that the country should be warned against the insidiousness of published suggestions that an armistice should be agreed to upon withdrawal of Germany from occupied territory.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota announced that he had prepared a resolution designed to insure preservation of the functions of the Senate.

The only future course, Senator Lodge emphatically declared, is to secure a complete military victory over Germany and force her to sue for peace.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota introduced a resolution which was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee providing that before the United States agree to any armistice Germany must disband her army, surrender her navy, arms and munitions and agree to pay for damages to cities and country devastated, restore Alsace Lorraine to France, together with the penalty exacted from France in 1870.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Austria Hungary recently again insisted that the vatican undertake steps toward peace, it is reported in Rome, according to a Havas dispatch from that city. The vatican, it is added, rejected the demand.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—President Wilson cancelled his usual morning recreation hour and remained secluded in his study at work. Prince Maximilian's note was received during the night at the Swiss legation where arrangements were made to deliver it at once to the State Department for transmission to the President.

Quite irrespective of the nature of the reply it seemed to be agreed that the German note called for a prompt reply so that the American people might not be misled into relaxing their efforts for the Fourth Liberty Loan, so that an offer of peace may receive such diplomatic attention as it deserves and so that the men in the field may know the government's intentions.

Minister Ekegren, of Sweden, presented the note from Baron Buren, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, to Secretary Lansing at 10:30 o'clock. He was at the State Department only a few minutes.

The Austrian communication is substantially similar to that from Germany and both ask President Wilson to arrange for an armistice and peace negotiations on condition previously laid down by the President. It is said neither of the official texts differs materially from the versions published in press dispatches.

Official announcements of the attitude of the United States government still were being withheld but there was no abatement of the indications that if Germany seeks "negotiations" leading to round table conferences and quibblings the offer will fall flat.

If she actually accepts without qualification the principles of peace as repeatedly laid down by President Wilson and accepted by all the co-belligerents the way is open to peace, with the withdrawal of all German troops from invaded territory as the first requirement.

Secretary Lansing said there could be no comment on the Austrian proposal until that of Germany also had been received. Germany's peace note was delivered to President Wilson personally today by Frederick Oederlin, an attaché of

Text of Note to President Containing Germany's Plea For Cessation of Hostilities

By Associated Press.

AMSTERDAM, Sunday, Oct. 6.—The text of the note forwarded by the Imperial German Chancellor, Prince Maximilian, to President Wilson, through the Swiss government, reads:

The German government requests the President of the United States to take in hand the restoration of peace, acquaint all the belligerent states of this request and invite them to send plenipotentiaries for the purpose of opening negotiations.

It accepts the program set forth by the President of the United States, in his message to Congress on January 8 and in his later pronouncement, especially his speech of September 27, as a basis for peace negotiations.

With a view to avoiding further bloodshed, the German government requests the immediate conclusion of an armistice on land and water and in the air.

It is announced that Turkey will take a similar step.

CHILD, PEERING INTO MUZZLE OF SHOTGUN, INSTANTLY KILLED

While playing with a single-barrel shotgun Saturday morning at the home of his grandfather, William Belsteln, at Breakneck, Carl Randolph Greenwalt, four years old, was instantly killed, when the gun was accidentally discharged. The child's uncle had been out soon hunting on Friday and on returning Friday night was unable to remove the shell from the gun. He placed the weapon behind the door with the intention of removing the shell the following morning. Forgetting about the gun he left the house the next morning and while the child's mother and grandfather were absent from the house, the little fellow who always was attracted by a gun, climbed up on a chair and was peering into the muzzle.

An older brother, six years old, was trying to remove the gun from the child's reach when it accidentally exploded, the shot entering the child's nose, badly mauling a part of the face.

The body was prepared for burial by Funeral Director J. L. Slader. Services will be held from the Belsteln home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. E. R. Burgess, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church officiating. Interment will be in Hill Grove cemetery. Mrs. Greenwalt keeps house for her father, Mr. Belsteln. Her husband is located somewhere in the east.

SCOTSDALE SHEET MILLS CLOSED FOR PERIOD OF THE WAR

Efforts of Committee to Have Company Reconsider Meet With No Success.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 7.—The Scottdale and the Old Meadow plants of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company have been closed for the period of the war. This was made plain to a committee which on Friday visited President E. W. Parguey at his offices in Pittsburgh. Government commandeering of the steel supply for war essentials is responsible. Orders for so-called non-essentials on the company's books would keep the plants running steadily.

According to a statement made by President Parguey to the committee, composed of Burgess B. C. Fretts, William Ferguson, Edward Tinsman and C. H. Loucks, the tin plate company is operating only 13 per cent of its 156 sheet mills and these are working on steel for helmets and other war requisites.

The Old Meadow plant has been closed for months. The No. 1 plant at Scottdale for two weeks. When the latter plant suspended the men were told to look for work elsewhere as it was indefinite as to when the plant would be running again. Some of the employees have gone to other towns. Others are finding work here. It is said about a thousand men are affected. When the plants are running full more than that number are said to be on the payrolls.

SCHOOLS WILL CONTINUE

Suggestions Offered West Penn as to Crowding in Cars and Waiting Room and Disinfection; Dr. Richard offers Hospital; B. & O. Will Assist.

At a meeting of the Board of Health held this afternoon, the epidemic of Spanish influenza which is spreading over the country was taken up, and ways and means for preventing it and dealing with it should it strike this city were discussed. Dr. T. R. Francis, president of the Board of Health, said no cases had as yet been reported to him, although there were about 200 cases of "old fashioned grip" in the city.

The schools will not be closed by the board at present, but a daily report from the superintendent will be made to the secretary. Daily reports will also be made by each physician in the city to the secretary. A committee composed of Health Officer George Hotal, George Enos and Alderman S. H. Howard will request Scout Commissioners A. O. Stone to assign Boy Scouts to the work of going to a physician's office each evening for the report and handing it in to Secretary Bixler at the city hall.

A motion was also made to ask the West Penn Railway company to try to control better the crowded conditions of cars and the waiting room. Dr. Francis said he believed the cars should be more thoroughly cleaned and ventilated. He also said he believed some soap and water on the seats in the waiting room would not hurt, instead of depending too much on fumigators.

Ice cream parlors will be given notice to clean their dishes very carefully and to keep crowds from congregating.

Dr. T. B. Richard has offered the use of his private hospital on the South Side in event of an epidemic of the disease here. Dr. Francis also announced that if necessary the Macabbee building could be converted into an emergency hospital.

The Baltimore & Ohio officials are ready to cooperate with the local health board and the dining room building next to the Hyndman building will be fitted up if necessary demands. About 20 patients could be handled there.

The Red Cross of Fayette county is holding all available nurses for service here is needed. Eighteen have already been listed.

Dr. Francis said a person becoming afflicted with the malady should go to bed immediately and summon a physician. The illness sometimes passes off in a few days and in other cases lasts for months.

"Tell the people of Connellsville to eat lots of onions," Dr. Francis said. "It may keep them from catching cold and it doesn't do anything else I might say kissing."

Max Floto, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Floto, is ill of Spanish influenza at a base hospital at Camp Lee. Joseph Bowry, also in training at Camp Lee, has recovered from a similar illness.

Philip Freeman chapter of the D. A. R. has discontinued its meeting during the influenza ban.

Dr. T. R. Francis, president of the Board of Health, said this morning no real cases of influenza had been reported but that doctors were being called in for some grip.

Dr. G. H. Edmunds, however, has several cases which he has diagnosed as the malady. It is stated. His own son, Franklin Edmunds, is ill at his Green Street home. Miss Mae Robbins in Eighth street, West Side, and Miss Emma Grace Dunn of Ogden avenue are also ill. Several other cases are reported in South Connellsville.

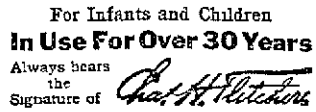

Julia Williams, a small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Williams of Race street, who is ill of a slight attack of the malady, is getting along nicely, her condition being much improved today.

Miss Anne Donnelly, domestic science teacher, who became ill last week is very much improved today. Sunday school and church attendance fell off yesterday.

With the theatres closed Saturday night, large crowds filled the streets, many with "nowhere to go."

Miss Mary Sliger, employed by the government in Washington, D. C., is very ill of Spanish influenza, according to word received here. Her mother, Mrs. Orpha J. Sliger, left for Washington yesterday. Miss Sliger

BUT ONE ANSWER.

To the insolent and insincere request of Germany for an armistice there is but one answer to be made and that is the answer that was given to Bulgaria—Unconditional Surrender! or Fight to a Finish!

As to the peace terms the no less emphatic intimation should be that these will be dictated by the Allies when and after Germany without debate or quibble, has complied fully and in entire good faith with the first requisite to a consideration of peace.

Any other answer to the overtures of Germany will simply form the entering wedge of a negotiated peace which is the supreme objective of all the peace offensives she has organized since the stern truth has dawned upon her that utter defeat is her certain portion.

Granting an armistice and stating terms of peace other than have been stated, before a military decision is reached and the rapists and murderers of Belgium and France have been driven from the soil they have polluted by their unspeakable crimes, will be virtual admission that Germany has won and that her army is indeed invincible. Such a concession will place Germany in the position of making a counter peace proposal, or suggesting compromise, and thus transfer the struggle from the battlefield to the realm of diplomacy, in which Germany and her allies are even greater masters than in the art of waging barbaric warfare.

To grant an armistice before the Hun is crushed; the great objective of the war, which is to render Germany powerless to again deluge the world in a saturnalia of bloodshed, will be lost. Now that the sword of the avenger hangs over them, the German militarists have ceased to be defiant and the whole nation has begun to relent. Boldness has changed to fear, and boastfulness has changed to whining. Bulgaria having surrendered, and the certainty of her own fate having become a real error to Germany, she has turned to a camouflaged demoralization of her government, followed promptly by a request for peace terms, as a hypocritical means of inducing her avengers to grant an armistice and enter upon consideration of a negotiated peace.

These things being true the new peace overtures must be regarded merely as the supreme effort of Germany's war lord and master to secure by subterfuge and negotiation what he well knows cannot be secured by his "shining sword." Notice must therefore be given that the present is not the time for a peace that will leave the Hun unbeaten, his power for future devastation undestroyed, his will to outrage unbroken, or his ambition to dominate the world unfettered.

His overtures require an answer but every consideration of justice, every hope of future peace of the world, the prayers of every mother whose son has gone down to death in the needless shedding of blood started by the Kaiser, the soul cry of every ravaged daughter, every murdered grandchild and every maimed child of France, Belgium, Poland, Serbia, and Roumania demands that the answer shall be,

Unconditional Surrender or a Fight to the Finish.

To such a reply there will be given in tremendous volume by the soldiers in France and the loyal citizens at home the mighty chorus,

ON TO BERLIN; GET THE KAISER; THEN PEACE!

TIME FOR ANOTHER HISTORIC MESSAGE.

In view of the present situation by which one Bill Hohenzollern is confronted, there is a peculiar timeliness in reproducing a historic message and its reply which were exchanged by General Grant and General Buckner in 1862. Grant's message read:

Headquarters Army in the Field,
Camp near Danvers, February 16, 1862.
General S. B. Buckner,
Confederate Army.
Sir—Yours of this date, proposing armistice and appointment of commissioners to settle terms of capitulation, is just received. No terms except an unconditional and immediate surrender can be accepted. I propose to move immediately upon your works.

I am, sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
U. S. GRANT,
Lieut. Gen.
Within a few hours after delivery of this to General Buckner a dispatch bearer brought the following in reply:

Headquarters, Dover, Tennessee, February 18, 1862.
To Brig. Gen'l U. S. Grant,
U. S. Army.
Sir—The distribution of forces under my command, incident to an unexpected change of commanders, and the overwhelming force under your command, compel me, notwithstanding the brilliant success of the Confederate arms yesterday, to accept the ungenerous and unchivalrous terms which you propose.

I am, sir,
Your very obedient servant,
S. B. BUCKNER,
Brig. Gen. C. S. A.

It would be most fitting to repeat these messages today. With the modern means of exchanging communications even better time could be made by the Allies and General Hohenzollern in coming to the same kind of an understanding that Grant and Buckner did in 1862 and without danger of violating any of Hohenzollern's notions of generosity and chivalry, as he has displayed them during the war.

Show the Huns that they cannot stop the progress of the Fourth Liberty loan by a fake peace offer any more effectively than they can stop the progress of the doughboys on that little trip to Berlin.

Wilhelm is also making frantic effort for a restoration of the partnership of "Me and Gett." The new Hun chancellor need have no fear that the United States will not take in hand the restoration of peace. The real worry of President Max and his big boss is that we are taking altogether too strong a hand to suit the German plans for a negotiated peace.

On to Berlin, Get the Kaiser; Then Peace!

Smashing attacks on the British, American and French fronts yesterday was one answer to the peace proffer that Berlin will have no difficulty in understanding. The answer Uncle Sam and the Allies will send him shortly will be equally plain.

Guess again, Bill!

Double your Liberty Bond subscription as your answer to the fake peace terms.

Having desecrated every other sacred and honored convention, place and thing, it was but natural that Germany should desecrate the white flag.

Bill says he "owes it to the heroes who may have laid down their lives for the fatherland" to "extend my hand for an honorable peace." But it is his withered hand while he holds his "shining sword" in the other hand his back.

Let the Hun peace subterfuge be the signal for redoubled efforts to put the Fourth Liberty loan across with the biggest margin of them all. And we'll do it.

Nobody is being fooled more than the Germans by their attempt to fool the Allies into a negotiated peace.

Get it straight in your noodle, Bill, if you can. Dictated, not negotiated, peace is the only kind Uncle Sam knows anything about.

Just the same old trick of the Huns only under a new style of camouflage.

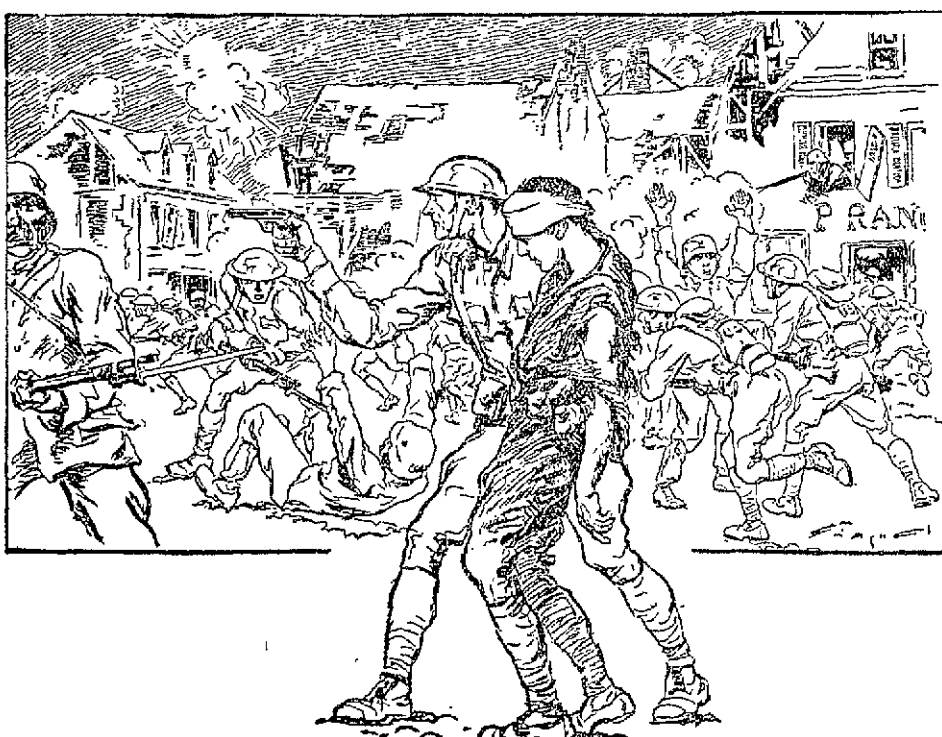

Unconditional surrender is the one and only basis for peace negotiation.

The Kaiser urges his army and navy to stand fast. His fake peace move will have the effect of making the allies and navies of the Allies fight hard and fast, which is, perhaps, something he didn't count upon.

It is there is any place the Huns are not getting bumped hard these days it is not on the war maps.

Card of Thanks.

William Gilbert and family desire to thank their many kind friends for the great sympathy and kindness rendered to them during their recent bereavement, the death of their greatly beloved wife and mother. Especially do they desire to thank those who assisted with the services and all who sent floral offerings.—Adv.

It stirs every American heart

Who was not thrilled to read of the American soldier who supported a wounded comrade, and fought his way with the little detachment back through the Boches to the American lines?

That is only one deed of heroism among the many happening every day and looked on as a matter of course by the boys fighting for us over there. It shows the stuff that's in them. They are our own sons and brothers. Is the same stuff in us over here?

We have the opportunity at home to show our patriotism by other deeds of valor. We can fight and we MUST fight. And we must WIN, no matter how heavy our burdens may be.

Our former habits are the Huns we've got to battle with. We can't go on living as we used to. We can't go on spending our money for things we like. We must set up new standards—war standards—and stick to them—loyally.

From now on there can be only one standard for those of us who fight behind the lines—by saving and lending

We must buy bonds to our utmost

The Open Road

More than a century ago America blazed a new path to freedom.

And now, when the liberties of the world are menaced, she is building an open road to Berlin and the death of despotism.

Of all the road builders of the world the Old Romans have long stood at the head of the class. But their's was a road of physical being.

America's road building is of another, a more spiritual, more idealistic kind. It is of greater hope, of brighter promise to humanity. It makes more for the ultimate liberty of all mankind.

Through countless centuries the people of the earth have been walking down the blind alley of oppression. They have been milling around in a circle. Following precedent, the trained decoy of might since the days of Adam.

They are treading that path yet in Kaiserland.

And a few other places, although they are fast breaking the chains that have bound them, helpless and hopeless, for so many years.

But now comes America, the young giant of the vigorous West, apostle of Freedom, champion of Right, disciple of Justice, and torch bearer of Liberty. Declaring for equal rights for all, for world democracy, and the sacredness of covenant. And willing to fight to the death for all of these.

To the world at large it looks like the open road to the millennium. But it isn't. It's merely laying down the bars to Independence Field.

It is serving notice upon the Kaisers, the Crown Princes and the Grand Dukes, to say nothing of the Sultans and the Pashas, that a new era is dawning. An era of the brotherhood of man; the abolition of monarchies in the absolute.

It's a fine little army of road builders that Uncle Sam has sent into Europe to blaze the way.

It's a fine little army of bond buyers here who will pay the cost.

For it's going to be a fine open road for humanity.

BRIDE of BATTLE

A Romance of the American Army Fighting on the Battlefields of France

By VICTOR ROUSSEAU

(Copyright, 1918, by W. G. Chapman.)

"You were specially asked for from headquarters," he said, "with another man; and I'm sending Hartley because he's your friend. They want two more men for the stretcher bearers' company. We'll be sorry to lose you, Weston."

Mark saluted and went out just as Hartley appeared at the door. The sergeant major enlightened Hartley briefly.

"You must have some pull at headquarters, Weston," he said. "Do you know Major Kellerman?"

"A little, sir," answered Mark grimly. "Well, he seems to know all about you, and he told the O. C. over the telephone that he must have you. He'll be your O. C. now for a while, so things ought to run smoothly for you."

"He's not a doctor, sir."

"No, but the stretcher bearers aren't a medical corps, they're attached to the—"

Mark hurried away. In the barrack room, at breakfast, the two were the subject of mingled jests and congratulations. The stretcher bearers, forming, as it were, the last supports of the infantry, shared with them the great proportion of casualties. Kellerman's scheme was perfectly clear to Mark.

He was in a wretched state of mind when the car steamed into the depot at the end of the narrow-gauge line. He descended into a city, a mushroom city of the supply and transportation department.

A sergeant and corporal, with nine or ten men of the stretcher bearers' company, were waiting for the two. The little troop was returning to the trenches after five days of relief at a rest camp.

"You're the two men from the base hospital," asked the sergeant. "All right! Fall in. Right turn! Quick march!"

They moved away down a slope and began to pick their way along the beginning of a maze of trenches.

The roar of guns, which had never ceased by night or day, and had long ceased to be noticeable, was louder now.

Suddenly the sergeant stopped.

"There was ten of you," he said to the corporal.

"All here," responded the corporal.

"Where's your mate?" he asked.

Mark, who had been plodding along under the impression that Hartley was following, turned round, to find that he was the last of the party. Hartley was nowhere to be seen.

The sergeant ran back a few paces, to return breathless and red in the face. "He's gone, the silly fool!" he spluttered. "Must have taken the wrong turn at the bend. Go back and get him!"

But Hartley was not at the bend. The sergeant joined Mark, incredulous. They scrambled up the bank and scanned the level road. There was no pedestrian in sight.

"He's taken the wrong turn somewhere," insisted the sergeant. "Come along with me! We've got to find him!"

They began doubling back shouting, until they reached the end of the trench system. Still Hartley could not be found.

"If he ain't on hand I'll be broke," the sergeant grumbled. "And I'll break his head for him. You medical corps chaps are like a bunch of babies. Ought to have a nurse and baby carter for each of you."

Reluctantly he abandoned the search and they rejoined the others. The sergeant, in an ugly mood, ordered them sharply onward, but could not resist casting occasional looks back to see if the missing man was coming. However, at last he resigned himself to what seemed inevitable. The trench widened into a deep, wide, parallel one extending in zigzags to right and left of them.

A large dugout, made shell proof, or as nearly as possible so, by a roof of heavy beams, sandbags and corrugated steel, bore the Red Cross upon the door. Inside a number of stretcher bearers were lounging. The sergeant halted his men and stepped into a smaller dugout beside it. In a minute he came out and beckoned to Mark to follow him. Mark entered, to find himself in the presence of the captain commanding the stretcher bearers' company, and—Kellerman. He saluted and stood to attention, watching Kellerman's eyes wander over him appraisingly.

"Orderly, where's the man who came with you?" inquired the Captain briskly.

"He disappeared on the way up, sir," answered Mark.

"What do you mean by disappeared? Did you see him go back? Or was he with you one minute and gone the next?"

"I thought he was behind me sir. I didn't see him go or know anything about it."

The Captain, who had been holding the receiver of his telephone, and evidently waiting for his connection, got it. Mark heard him sending out a general notice of the absent man. He gave his number and the name "Hartley."

No doubt he had mistaken it as he received it by telephone from the hospital that morning.

"You'll parade before me tomorrow morning," said Captain Keyes to the sergeant. "Till then you are under open arrest."

The sergeant saluted. "Right turn!" he said to Mark.

"Wait a minute," interposed Kellerman. "I'd like to have a few words with this man Captain Keyes."

"By all means, sir," replied the Captain, rising.

He stroled, humming to the door of the dugout, leaving Kellerman and Mark together.

"So you've enlisted under the name Weston?" inquired Kellerman.

"That is my name, sir."

"It was a shock to me yesterday, Wallace. I never expected it. Your disappearance stirred Washington a good deal. The war office would have exonerated you."

In spite of his loathing of the man, Mark felt his heart begin to hammer with hope. He looked at Kellerman with pathos in his eyes, he could not hide his feelings, he was groping amid the ruins of his world and trying to reconstruct them.

"I've no doubt you misunderstood me," said Kellerman. "My association with the Kenson woman was a part of my official duties—the most distasteful part, but one that had to be carried out. You and I were the victims of an acute piece of trickery. That fan was wired."

"I've no doubt you misunderstood me," said Kellerman.

"From your room, sir," said Mark.

"From my room," answered Kellerman. "And, no doubt, by the Kenson woman's agent, that spy who called to see you at the war office the same morning. Colonel Howard knows all about it. He means to stand by you. He heard you had enlisted but he did not know you were in the medical corps, nor under an alias. He is at the base now. Wallace. When he comes up next week I shall make it my business to see him about you."

"No, sir," gasped Mark. "It doesn't matter now."

"It matters to me, if not to yourself. Wallace. I cannot rid myself of the sense of partial responsibility. And as for what happened last night, you took me off my guard. I'll be frank with you. It was my duty to interest the Kenson woman. I succeeded too well. She followed me here. I couldn't bring myself to denounce her. For that I have placed my own position in jeopardy. When you appeared I did not know what to do or say."

CLAIMS IT GAVE BACK TO HIM HIS OLD TIME HEALTH

Federal Street, Pittsburg, Minn. Says Ten-Herbs Restored Him to Health.

There are so many so-called stomach, liver and kidney medicines extensively advertised today that the people are lured away from the good old-time herbal remedies, such as our Ten-Herbs used to take, said the Ten-Herbs man in a recent interview who is daily telling the public the benefits to be derived by taking Ten-Herbs, the purely herbal stomach, liver and kidney remedy.

Since Ten-Herbs was so successfully introduced here many persons are testifying every day to the benefits derived by taking it.

As an instance Mr. B. C. Straub residing at No. 2108 Federal street, Pittsburg, who has a large acquaintance here and is employed by one of Pittsburg's foremost firms said:

After the hard season just passed which none of us will forget for many a day I was all run down. I seemed to have no energy or ambition to do anything. My stomach was in a weak condition and I had no appetite whatever. I could not get a good night's sleep, was constipated, and I felt sorely in need of a good medicine to build me up. I heard a good deal how Ten-Herbs helped others and finally I just the medicine I needed for it put my nerves in fine shape. I now have a good appetite, sleep well and my constipation is relieved. Ten-Herbs has given me back my old-time 'pep' and I am feeling like a new man. I certainly feel it my duty to tell others of the great benefit I received from taking it.

Ten-Herbs is sold in Connelville at the Connelville Drug Co's Store.

When You Fight--Fight

FIGHT as these American soldiers fought in the streets of Fismes. "They covered themselves with glory," the papers say. Of course they did—they are Americans.

They met the finest of the enemy's troops in a terrific hand-to-hand struggle. They used their guns—their bayonets—their bare fists. Every American soldier went after his man desperately, fearlessly, persistently, with one great driving purpose—to whip that Prussian Guard, to silence its machine guns—to win!

It's a pretty good way to fight—this American way. It wins battles over there, it will win a splendid victory over here—if we fight when we fight—if we buy Liberty Bonds to our utmost.

When you fight—fight! When you buy—buy!

WASHINGTON IS HELD TO 0-0 TIE BY C. H. S. ELEVEN

Time and Again Locals Snatch Apparent Victory From the Visitors.

HARD FIGHT ALL THE WAY

Holding This Strong Aggregation Scoreless Gives the Locals Confidence for the Next Game—Saturday With the Greensburg High School.

By fighting every minute of play and assisted by a few "breaks" of the game, the Conneltsville high school football team held the strong Washington high school team, which is one of the biggest aggregations in the field this year, to a 0-0 tie at Fayette Field Saturday afternoon.

Holding Washington scoreless gives Conneltsville much confidence for the coming Greensburg game, which will be played here Saturday.

The material in the Conneltsville team this year is mostly young. Menefee at left end and Yaw at Center Saturday were entirely new to the game, it being their first real contest. Both youngsters performed creditably.

Four times Washington had the ball within striking distance of the goal, three times in the first half and once in the second period. Twice Conneltsville held the big backs for downs and once Struble saved a score by recovering a fumble on the two yard line.

At another time Washington had the ball on the two yard line when the half ended.

Danner got off some excellent punts for the locals, placing them well and getting them far up the field, giving his ends time to reach the runner almost before he could get started.

The Washington team received the kickoff and for a time went through the locals by sheer strength. The visitors, however, always found a stone wall resistance when the Conneltsville boys finally stood in the shadow of their own goal.

The game started at 4 o'clock, Conneltsville kicking off to Washington. On the first play two yards were gained and another run gave Washington a first down. On the next signal Washington lost a yard and further efforts to gain were futile. Conneltsville received the punt but could not advance the ball and kicked. A Washington man was offside on the play and the ball was called back, Conneltsville getting a first down.

The locals kicked again and Washington fumbled, recovering the ball on the 15 yard line. A Washington back went through for 12 yards. Conneltsville then tightened up for two downs but on the third smash a visiting player went through for 40 yards. On the 10-yard line Conneltsville held Washington for downs and kicked to the visitors' 25 yard line.

Washington went through the line for 11 yards and the Conneltsville defense stiffened. On the right side of the line, Loughrey, Buttermore and Yaw were blocking everything and on the other side Joe McConnell and Moore went into every play. Washington had a first down with the goal line to go. The first play netted one yard. On the second rush the runner endeavored to dodge a tackler and fumbled. Struble made a quick recovery and Conneltsville kicked. The Washington player fumbled and Menefee recovered. It was Conneltsville's ball on the 40 yard line.

Conneltsville was penalized five yards for offside and kicked. Washington got a first down and then went through for 30 yards. Lyon, playing back, caught the runner on the 20-yard line. Washington got another first down and the ball was on the eight-yard line. In two downs it was advanced to the two-yard line and the time was up for the first half.

In the opening of the second period Struble received the kickoff and advanced the ball 17 yards. Durnell lost four yards on the first play. He was injured in this tackle and Bufano went in for him. Danner punted, but Washington was offside and the ball went to Conneltsville with a first down. The locals were unable to gain and were penalized for offside. Danner punted and the Washington runner advanced the ball to the 41-yard line. Washington advanced the ball again to within striking distance of Conneltsville's goal. Two plays directed between center and tackle failed. Washington then tried a run around end and lost the ball on downs.

Conneltsville opened up with the first forward pass of the game, Lyon to Joe McConnell, gaining 11 yards. Another pass tried on the next play failed. The ball went to Washington on its 34-yard line. The visitors made a first down and on the next play fumbled the ball. Joe McConnell broke through and got the runner for a loss of 10 yards. Washington failed to make up the loss and punted to Struble.

Conneltsville could not gain and Danner punted to Washington's 30-yard line. A Washington runner broke through for a distance of 15 yards. Menefee jarred the runner so hard when he tackled that the ball was fumbled. Jimmie McConnell recovering. The locals tried a forward, which Washington intercepted. The runner went across the line for a touchdown but the play was not allowed, a Washington player being offside before the pass was made.

PHYSICAL DEFECTS

MANY CAN BE CURED.
Read This Then Call and See THE SPECIALIST.

Dr. R. W. MacKenzie
Treats and Cures Chronic, Nervous, Skin and Blood Diseases.

In the first draft about one-third of the men examined were rejected for physical defects and thousands more will be added from the new registrants. You can and should have these defects corrected in time, not only for military service, but to increase your efficiency in your usual employment.

THE UNITED STATES PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE shows that physical disability is greater in persons between the ages of 30 and 40 years than in those from 20 to 30 years of age.

The lack of energy and ambition at ages over 30 years can be overcome to a great extent. Many cases arise from physical defects, such as defective eyes, heart and urinary disorders, heart affections, high blood pressure, rheumatism, venereal diseases, specific blood poison, piles and nervous and mental disorders.

FRESHMAN WILSON SAYS:

"It is not an army we must train for war, it is a nation. Do not go through life with handicaps that may be easily removed. Do not shorten your life by reducing your carrying capacity and capacity for enjoying life, by neglecting our bodily condition."

While other men are cheerfully facing death for the cause of democracy, do not shrink from facing a little trouble in response to make yourself strong, healthy and fit.

COME TO ME WITH YOUR TROUBLE. Many old and stubborn cases that have tried the skill of the best physicians have been cured by my methods, and a fair trial will convince you that they are really wonderful in the face of all former treatments.

If I treat your case, charges will be reasonable, everything strictly confidential and the best possible treatment.
